WHAT IS A MUTUAL FUND?

A mutual fund is a pool of assets contributed to by investors who share similar investment objectives. Mutual funds are managed by professional portfolio managers and advisers in accordance with a disclosed investment strategy with the goal of achieving the mutual fund’s investment objective. Where a mutual fund issues more than one series, a unitholder shares in the fund’s income, expenses and any gains and losses allocated to the unitholder’s series generally in proportion to the units of the series he or she owns.

The benefits of investing in a mutual fund include:

Professional Management – Experienced portfolio managers and advisers provide on-going investment and management advice regarding the investment portfolio of the mutual fund.

Diversification – Subject to their investment strategy, mutual funds generally invest their assets in a variety of securities which can be spread over different issuers, industries, and/or geographic regions in order to reduce their exposure to any one particular investment. Thus, an investment in a mutual fund provides smaller investors a lower-cost method relative to the cost of other investment opportunities of acquiring a diversified portfolio.

Variety – From fixed income funds to aggressive equity funds, mutual funds offer investors a wide range of investment objectives to meet individual investor needs.

Liquidity – The hallmark characteristic of an investment in a mutual fund is the Unitholder’s continuing right to redeem all or part of the investment at any time. Under exceptional circumstances, however, a mutual fund may suspend redemptions — please refer to “Suspending the Right to Redeem Units” below for more information.

Administration – All administration matters, such as custody of assets, record keeping, reporting to investors and the reinvestment of distributions, are handled or arranged by the mutual fund manager.

WHAT ARE THE RISKS OF INVESTING IN A MUTUAL FUND?

Mutual funds, including the Fund, own different types of investments depending upon their investment objectives. The value of each mutual fund’s portfolio of securities can change from day to day as a result of general market risks including changes in interest rates, economic conditions, and stock market and company news. As a result, the value of any mutual fund’s securities may fluctuate and the value of your investment in a mutual fund may be more or less when you redeem it than when you purchased it.

The full amount of your investment in the Fund is not guaranteed. Unlike bank accounts or GICs, mutual fund units are not covered by the Canada Deposit Insurance Corporation or any other government deposit insurer.

Securities held by the Fund that are traded on a public exchange are generally valued at their most recent sale price. If the price is not available or if the price is not a true reflection of the value of the security, we will, in our sole discretion, use another method to determine the value. This practice is called fair value pricing. It may happen for many reasons, including where the value is affected by events that occur after a market where the security is principally traded has closed or where there has been minimal or infrequent trading in a security.

Under exceptional circumstances, a mutual fund may suspend redemptions. For more information, please see “Suspending the Right to Redeem Units”.

Different Mutual Funds have Different Risks

All investments, including mutual funds, carry the risk that you will lose money or not make money. The degree of risk from one mutual fund to another varies considerably. Generally speaking, investments with the highest potential return carry the greatest risk. In deciding how much risk you are prepared to take, you should consider how soon you will need the money you are investing. The longer you can leave your money invested, the more time there is for short-term market declines to be reversed.

Below are some specific risks that can affect the value of your investment in the Fund.

- Concentration Risk – Some mutual funds concentrate their investment holdings in specialized industries, market sectors or in a limited number of issuers. Investments in these mutual funds may involve greater risk and volatility than broadly based investment portfolios since the performance of one particular industry, market or issuer could significantly and adversely affect the overall performance of the entire mutual fund. By investing in a relatively small number of securities or sectors, the Portfolio Advisor (as defined below) may have a significant portion of the Fund invested in a single security or sector. This may result in higher volatility, as the value of the portfolio will vary more in response to changes in the market value of an individual security or changes in a specific sector.

- Currency Risk – Changes in the value of the Canadian dollar, in relation to foreign currencies, may affect the value of securities held by a mutual fund which are denominated in foreign currencies. If the Canadian dollar declines in value against the foreign currency, the value of an investment expressed in Canadian currency may increase. If the Canadian dollar increases in value against the foreign currency, the value of an investment expressed in Canadian currency may decrease. For example, if the Canadian dollar rises relative to the Japanese yen, Japanese stocks may be worth less in Canadian dollars.
- Derivatives Risk - Mutual funds that invest in derivatives enter into a contract with another party. The value of the derivatives is based on the performance of other investments such as equities, bonds, currencies or a market index. Some of the common risks associated with using derivatives are: (i) the use of derivatives for hedging may not be effective; (ii) there is no guarantee a market will exist when the mutual fund wants to buy or sell a derivative contract; (iii) the other party to the derivative contract may not be able to meet its obligations; (iv) the exchanges on which some derivatives are traded may set daily trading limits on futures contracts, preventing the mutual fund from closing a contract; (v) if an exchange halts trading in a certain stock option, the mutual fund may not be able to close its position in an option; and (vi) the price of a derivative may not accurately reflect the value of the underlying security or index.
- Emerging Markets Risk – In emerging market countries, securities markets may be smaller than in more developed countries, making it more difficult to sell securities in order to take profits or avoid losses. Companies in these markets may have limited product lines, markets or resources, making it difficult to measure the value of the company. Political instability and possible corruption, as well as lower standards of regulation for business practices, increase the possibility of fraud and other legal problems. The value of funds that buy these investments may rise and fall substantially.
- Equity Risk – Market value of a mutual fund's equity investments (also called stocks or shares) may fluctuate in response to specific company developments and prospects as well as changes in economic conditions and stock market news.
- Foreign Investment Risk – Investments in foreign companies and markets may be affected by world economic, financial and political conditions located in that foreign market. Some foreign market investments may be more volatile and less liquid than Canadian investments because of greater economic and political risk. Also, information about foreign companies may not be as complete and may not be subject to the same extensive accounting, auditing, financial reporting standards and practices and other disclosure requirements which apply in Canada and the United States. There also may not be an established stock market or legal system that adequately protects the rights of investors. Different financial, political, social and environmental factors may significantly affect the value of a fund's investments. The costs of buying, selling and holding securities may be higher than those involved in domestic transactions and are subject to the laws and regulations of the foreign market.
- Islamic Investment Risk – Islamic investment principles may result in under-performance of an Islamic fund relative to mutual funds with similar investment objectives which are not subject to any Islamic investment principles. For example, other mutual funds are entitled to earn interest income on their cash investments, whereas an Islamic fund is not entitled to earn such interest income.

- Large Transaction Risk – The Fund may have investors who hold a significant amount of units of the Fund. Those investors could be institutions such as banks, insurance companies or other mutual fund companies that make a significant investment in the Fund. If one or more of these large investors redeem their investment in the Fund, the Fund may be forced to sell large numbers of portfolio investments to meet those requests. The Fund may be forced to sell investments at inopportune times, including during a market cycle downturn, when many investments have declined in value, or at a time when a particular investment is valued below its anticipated worth. On the other hand, if an investor makes a large investment in the Fund, the Fund may be required to hold this investment in cash while it searches for appropriate investments. This can reduce the returns of the Fund.
- Liquidity Risk – Liquidity is a measure of how quickly an investment may be sold for cash at a fair market price. Some investments may be more difficult to sell than others for a variety of reasons, including that the investments are not well known, the effect of economic or other events, or that smaller companies may be more difficult to value. If these companies have only a few shares outstanding, a sale or purchase of a small number of shares may have a greater than usual impact on the share price. If the Fund cannot sell an investment quickly, the Fund may lose money or make a lower profit, especially if the Fund must meet a large number of redemption requests. In general, investments in smaller companies or smaller or emerging markets tend to be less liquid than other types of investments.
- Loss Restriction Event – If the Fund experiences a "loss restriction event" (i) the Fund will be deemed to have a year-end for tax purposes, and (ii) the Fund will become subject to the loss restriction rules generally applicable to corporations that experience an acquisition of control, including a deemed realization of any unrealized capital losses and restrictions on their ability to carry forward losses. Generally, the Fund will be subject to a loss restriction event when a person becomes a "majority-interest beneficiary" of the Fund, or a group of persons becomes a "majority-interest group of beneficiaries" of the Fund, as those terms are defined in the affiliated persons rules contained in the Tax Act, with appropriate modifications. Generally, a majority-interest beneficiary of the Fund will be a beneficiary who, together with the beneficial interests of persons and partnerships with whom the beneficiary is affiliated, has a fair market value that is greater than 50% of the fair market value of all the interests in the income or capital, respectively, in the Fund. If the Fund were to qualify as an "investment fund" as that term is defined in the Tax Act, it would be exempted from the loss restriction event rules even if a person were to become the owner of more than 50% of the units of the Fund. It is reasonable to expect that the Fund will satisfy the conditions to qualify as an investment fund.
- Market Risk – The market value of the Fund's investments may rise or fall based on overall stock market conditions rather than each company's performance. The market value of investments may vary with changes in general economic and financial conditions. Political, social and environmental factors can also significantly affect the market value of any investment.
- Rate of Return on Sukuk Risk – Certain forms of sukuk (singular, sakk: Islamic Bond) pay a fixed income stream. A sukuk is similar to a bond that complies with Shari'ah law. When interest rates in the economy fall, the value of existing sukuk may rise because the income stream payable by such sukuk are higher than other income streams payable by new sukuk which are benchmarked against a lower interest rate in the economy. This risk is compounded where the sukuk are not liquid.

- Regulatory Risk – Some industries, such as health care and telecommunications, are heavily regulated and may receive government funding. Investments in these sectors may be substantially affected by changes in government policy, such as increased regulation, ownership restrictions, deregulation or reduced government funding. The value of a mutual fund that buys these investments may rise and fall substantially due to changes in these factors.
- Sector Risk – Investments concentrated in one sector tend to be more volatile than investments diversified across many different sectors. Changes in a particular sector may affect the entities in that sector in the same way. Such changes may affect the Fund’s investments that are heavily concentrated in that sector.
- Series Risk – Securities of some mutual funds are offered under a “multi-series” structure where each series of securities is charged, as a separate series, the expenses attributable to that particular series. If a series is unable to pay its expenses, the other series are responsible for making up the difference because the mutual fund as a whole is responsible for the financial obligations of all the series.
- Small Cap Risk – Capitalization is a measure of the value of a company. Companies with small capitalization may not have a well-developed or liquid market for their securities. Small capitalization companies may have limited financial resources and fewer shares issued resulting in lower liquidity. Accordingly, these securities may be more difficult to trade, making their prices more volatile than securities of companies with large capitalization. As a result, a mutual fund that invests in small cap companies is more likely to experience more volatility.
- Sukuk Issuer Risk – An issuer of sukuk may not be able to pay a continuous income stream when it is due or may fail to repurchase the asset when required to do so by the sukuk holder. The risk is generally lower if the issuer has a high credit rating from an independent credit rating agency while it is generally higher if the issuer has a low credit rating or no credit rating. The prices of securities with lower ratings tend to fluctuate more than prices of securities with higher ratings.
- Underlying Asset Risk – The underlying asset tied to the sukuk may be lost or depreciate at a rate faster than the market and the sukuk issuer may default in repurchasing the asset when required to do so by the sukuk holder. In such situations the asset held by the sukuk holder has a value less than the face value of the sukuk.

PURCHASES, SWITCHES AND REDEMPTIONS

You may purchase or switch units of one series of the Fund into units of another series of the Fund, or redeem units of the Fund only through registered dealers in each jurisdiction where the units are qualified for sale.

You purchase, switch and redeem units of the Fund at the current net asset value per unit (“NAV”) as determined for each series of the Fund at 4:00 p.m. (Eastern Time) on each business day. A “business day” is any day that the Toronto Stock Exchange (“TSX”) is open for trading or such other time as the Manager determines appropriate. On each business day, a separate NAV for each series of units of the Fund is calculated based on the market value of that series’ proportionate share of the assets of the Fund, less any liabilities of the Fund allocated to that series of units, divided by the total number of units of that series held by Fund investors. The NAV will fluctuate with the value of the Fund's investments.

All requests received by the Manager prior to 4:00 p.m. (Eastern Time) on a business day for a purchase, switch or redemption of units of a series of the Fund will be executed that same business day using that business day's NAV for the applicable series. Requests received by the Manager after 4:00 p.m. (Eastern Time) on a business day will be executed on the following business day using that following business day's NAV for the applicable series.

The issue and redemption price of those securities is based on the Fund's NAV of a security of that series next determined after the receipt by the Fund of the purchase order or redemption order.

Series of Units

When you invest in the Fund, you will receive a particular series of units of the Fund. The Fund is permitted to have an unlimited number of series of units and may issue an unlimited number of units of each series. The Manager may establish additional series of units and may determine the rights as between those series without your consent or notice to you. Each unit of a series will entitle an investor to:

- receive a pro-rata share of all net income and net capital gains (or losses) distributions attributable to that series made by the Fund (except for management fee distributions);
- share pro-rata in the net assets of that series upon the wind-up or termination of the Fund;
- vote at all meetings of the Fund (where the nature of the business to be transacted at an investor meeting concerns an issue that is relevant only to holders of a particular series, only holders of that series will be entitled to vote); and
- redeem or switch units to another series of the Fund.

The Fund offers three series of units – series A, series F, series I. Only series A and series F units are available for sale under this document. Series I units are not offered for sale under this Simplified Prospectus. The Fund offers series I units in reliance upon registration and prospectus exemptions under applicable securities legislation.

With respect to the different series of units described below, the Manager reserves the right to set and change minimum initial purchase amount and subsequent purchase amount requirements for the Fund without notice to you. The Manager reserves the right to redeem your units if the value of your units falls below these set minimum investment amounts.

The principal differences among series A and F units relate to the management fee payable to the Manager, the compensation paid to dealers and the expenses payable by each series. These are described under "Fees and Expenses" and under "Dealer Compensation".

Units are issued as fully paid and non-assessable and are redeemable at their NAV. Units are available for purchase in Canadian dollars only.

Series A units: for any investor who initially invests a minimum of $500 in series A units under either the Initial Sales Charge Option (described below), Deferred Sales Charge Option (described below) or Low-Load Sales Charge Option (described below) whether purchased directly or through a registered plan. The minimum investment for all subsequent investments is $25. Given the high cost of maintaining accounts, the Fund has the right to redeem your series A units if the book value of your investment is less than $250. You will be notified when the book value of your series A units in the Fund falls below $250 and given 30 days to make an additional investment to increase your investment in the Fund to $250 or more before the redemption is processed.

Series F units: for any investors investing and maintaining a minimum of $1,000 in the Fund, who are enrolled in a dealer sponsored “fee-for-service” or “wrap” program and who are subject to an asset-based fee (rather than paying commissions on transactions) payable to their dealer for the dealer’s on-going financial planning and advice. The minimum investment for all subsequent investments is $25. The Manager is able to reduce the management fee charged to the Fund on series F units because the Manager does not pay commissions or trailing commissions to dealers who sell series F units of the Fund.

Unitholder Approval

In accordance with National Instrument 81-102 Investment Funds (“NI 81-102”), Unitholders of the Fund will be permitted to vote on the following fundamental changes:

- a change to the basis of the calculation of a fee or expense that is charged to the Fund or series, or directly to its Unitholders by the Fund or the Manager in connection with the holding of units of the Fund in a way that could result in an increase in charges to the Fund or series or to its Unitholders;
- a fee or expense to be charged to the Fund or series, or directly to its Unitholders by the Fund or the Manager in connection with the holding of units of the Fund that could result in an increase in charges to that Fund or series or to its security holders, is introduced;
- a change in the Manager of the Fund (unless the new manager is an affiliate of the Manager);
- a change in the fundamental investment objectives of the Fund;
- if the Fund decreases the frequency of the calculation of its NAV per unit; and
- certain material re-organizations of the Fund.

In accordance with NI 81-102, the following changes can be made to the Fund without the approval of Unitholders, but Unitholders will be sent written notice at least 60 days prior to the effective date of the change:

- a change to a fee or a new fee or expense is charged to the Fund as a result of a change made by a third party at arm’s length to the Fund;
- the auditor of the Fund is changed; and
- certain material re-organizations of the Fund that are made which do not require Unitholder approval.

In certain circumstances, in place of Unitholders approving certain reorganizations and asset transfers to another mutual fund (fund mergers), the IRC has been permitted under securities legislation to approve a fund merger. In these circumstances, the Fund’s Unitholders will receive written notice of any proposed fund merger at least 60 days prior to the effective date of the merger.

Purchases

Units of the Fund are offered for sale on a continuous basis and can be purchased by submitting a purchase order to your dealer. All purchase orders must be transmitted by your dealer to the Manager on the same day that they are received. Such orders are to be transmitted by courier, priority post or telecommunications facility without charge to you. It is the responsibility of your dealer to transmit orders to us in a timely manner and to assume all associated costs.

The Fund does not intend to issue certificates for units. Ownership will be evidenced by entry in the register maintained by the Fund's registrar. For information on the Fund's registrar see the chart under "Organization and Management of the Fund".

The Manager has discretion to reject any purchase order. The decision to accept or reject any purchase order will be made within one business day of receipt of the order. If the purchase order is rejected, all purchase monies received with the order will be refunded immediately.

Payment of the total amount of the purchase order and all necessary documents must be received by the Manager within three business days of receipt of your purchase order. In the event that payment or documents have not been received within this period, the Manager will submit an order to redeem the number of units purchased on the next business day and will pay the redemption proceeds to the Fund. The proceeds of the redemption will be used to reduce any amount owing to the Fund. Any excess will belong to the Fund. Any shortfall will initially be paid to the Fund by the Manager, but we may collect such amount, together with the charges or expenses incurred, from the dealer who placed the order. Your dealer has the right to collect these amounts from you.

If your cheque for the purchase of units is not honoured, we may reverse the purchase order and hold you responsible for any costs involved.

If you purchase units during a period when redemptions of units are suspended, you may either withdraw your purchase order prior to the end of the suspension period or receive the units based on the NAV per unit first calculated following the end of the suspension period.

Purchasing Series A Units

You may choose from three purchase options when purchasing series A units of the Fund, namely the Initial Sales Charge Option, Deferred Sales Charge Option or Low Load Sales Charge Option. You will be deemed to purchase series A units of the Fund by the Initial Sales Charge Option unless you specify otherwise at the time the purchase order is placed.

- Initial Sales Charge Option – you negotiate a sales charge with your dealer at the time of purchase of series A units (see "Sales Charges" in the "Fees and Expenses Payable Directly by You" table for more information). There may be additional fees to pay if you switch or redeem your series A units within 90 days of purchase or switch — see "Short-Term Trading Fee" below for more information.
- Deferred Sales Charge Option – no fee is payable by you to your dealer at the time of purchase of series A units. However, a fee (expressed as a percentage of the purchase price of the series A units redeemed or switched) may be payable at the time of sale if you redeem or switch your series A units during the first seven years from the date of purchase (see "Redemption Fees" in the "Fees and Expenses Payable Directly by You" table for more information). A free redemption entitlement may apply to the redemption of series A units purchased under this purchase option — see "Free Redemption Privilege" for more information.
- Low-Load Sales Charge Option – no fee is payable by you to your dealer at the time of purchase of series A units. However, a fee (expressed as a percentage of the purchase price of the units redeemed or switched) may be payable at the time of sale if you redeem or switch your series A units within three years from the date of purchase (see "Redemption Fees" in the "Fees and Expenses Payable Directly by You" table for more information).

Your dealer will receive different compensation depending upon the purchase option selected by you. The fees you pay and the time you pay them will vary depending upon the purchase option selected by you. See “Dealer Compensation” for more information.

Purchasing Series F Units

Series F units are only available through dealers or financial planners who offer certain “wrap” or “fee for service” programs that have been approved by the Manager. An investor in one of these programs pays a fee to his or her dealer based on the assets in that investor’s account and/or for on-going financial planning and advice. The investor must maintain, in aggregate, a minimum of $1,000 in the Fund. Your dealer or financial adviser must enter into an agreement with the Manager before selling series F units. Dealer participation in the series F unit program is subject to terms and conditions determined by us from time to time.

There are no sales charges, redemption fees or trailing commissions payable on the purchase or sale of series F units.

If you cease to be eligible to hold series F units, we may switch your series F units into series A units of the Fund after giving you 30 days’ prior notice, unless you notify us during the notice period, and we agree, that you are once again eligible to hold series F units. On a switch from series F to series A units, Unitholders will be required to choose a purchase option and pay the fees and charges applicable to that purchase option. If you do not choose a purchase option, you will be automatically deemed to have chosen the Initial Sales Charge Option - see “Purchasing Series A Units” above.

Switching Between Series of the Fund

You may switch series A units of the Fund into series F units of the Fund through your dealer if you meet, as the case may be, the series F eligibility criteria set out above. Before changing any series A units of the Fund into series F units, a fee may be payable if the series A units were purchased under the Low Load Sales Charge Option or Deferred Sales Charge Option.

Your dealer may charge you a switch fee of up to 2% of the value of the switched units if you switch from series A units to series F units of the Fund. You may be charged a short-term trading fee in addition to a switch fee if you switch units within certain time periods. See “Purchases, Switches and Redemptions” and “Short-Term Trading Fees” for additional information.

The Manager may switch your series F units of the Fund into series A units of the Fund upon 30 days prior notice if you cease to be eligible to hold series F units in your account. The Manager will not make the change if your dealer notifies us during the notice period, and we agree, that you are once again eligible to hold series F units. On a switch from series F units to series A units, Unitholders will be required to choose a purchase option and pay the fees and charges associated with that purchase option. If you do not choose a purchase option, you will be automatically deemed to have chosen the Initial Sales Charge Option - see “Purchasing Series A Units” above. The default Initial Sales Charge percentage is 0%.

Switching units of one series for units of another series of the same Fund is not a disposition for tax purposes, see “Income Tax Considerations for Investors” for more information.

Redemptions

Unless we have suspended the right to redeem units, you may redeem your units for cash at any time at the NAV per unit redeemed. A short-term trading fee may apply. You may redeem all or a portion of your units of the Fund on any business day by delivering a written redemption order to your dealer. Your request must be signed by you and, for the protection of investors, the Manager may require that your signature be guaranteed by a guarantor acceptable to the Manager.

The Manager must receive all necessary documentation within 10 business days of receipt of the redemption order. The investor will be sent the redemption proceeds within 3 business days of the date the units were priced subject to the Manager receiving all necessary documentation. Additional documentation may be required if the investor is a corporation, partnership, agent, a trustee acting for someone else or a surviving joint owner.

If the documentation is not received within 10 business days of receipt of the redemption order, the redemption order will be reversed by processing a purchase order on the tenth business day for the number of units that were redeemed. The redemption proceeds will be used to pay for the units purchased. Any excess proceeds belong to the Fund. Any shortfall will be paid to the Fund by the Manager. However, the Manager will be entitled to collect the shortfall, plus any costs involved, from the dealer who placed the redemption request. That dealer, in turn, may seek to collect this amount plus the expenses of doing so from the investor on whose behalf the redemption request was made.

If you purchased series A units under the Deferred Sales Charge Option or Low-Load Sales Charge Option, redemption charges may apply - refer to “Redemption Fees” in the “Fees and Expenses Payable Directly by You” table below for more information. The charge payable by you at the time of sale will be determined by applying the fee schedule of the Fund which was originally purchased by you, regardless of whether you have since transferred all or any portion of that investment to another Fund. This redemption charge will be deducted from the redemption proceeds and will be paid to the Manager or to an appropriate partnership, trust, or other entity, which paid the selling commission on the particular series A units being redeemed.

In order to deter certain trading activities that can be detrimental to the Fund and its investors, such as frequent purchases and redemptions of the Fund by the same investor, the Manager may trigger the imposition of a short-term trading fee under certain specified circumstances — see “Short-Term Trading Fees” below for more information. Short-term trading fees are in addition to any applicable sales charges or switch fees that may apply.

Free Redemption Privilege

You may redeem (or switch to the Initial Sales Charge Option) in each calendar year, without paying a deferred sales charge, up to:

- 10% of the number of series A units purchased under the Deferred Sales Charge Option and held by you at December 31 of the previous year, plus
- 10% of the number of series A units purchased by you during the current calendar year under the Deferred Sales Charge Option on or prior to the date of redemption, less
- the number of series A units you would have received if you had reinvested any cash distributions you received during the current calendar year.

Any unused portion of the free redemption of deferred sales charge units cannot be carried forward to subsequent years.

Suspending the Right to Redeem Units

Under extraordinary circumstances, the rights of investors to redeem units may be suspended by the Fund. We may suspend the right to redeem units of the Fund or postpone the date of payment upon redemption:

- during any period when normal trading is suspended on any exchange on which securities are listed that, in the aggregate, represent more than 50% by value or underlying market exposure of the total assets of the Fund without allowance for liabilities and if those securities are not traded on any other exchange that represents a reasonably practical alternative; or
- with the prior permission of the Ontario Securities Commission (the “OSC”).

During any period of suspension, no calculations of NAV will be made and the Fund will not be permitted to issue further securities or redeem any securities previously issued. The calculation of the NAV will resume when trading resumes on the exchange or with the permission of any securities commission or regulatory body having jurisdiction. If the right to redeem units of the Fund is suspended and you make a redemption request during that period, your units will be redeemed by the Fund in accordance with the redemption request at the NAV first calculated following the end of the suspension period.

Short-Term Trading Fees

If you redeem or switch units of the Fund within 90 days of purchase, you will be charged a short-term trading fee of 2% of the value of the units redeemed or switched. We may waive this fee at our discretion. This fee does not apply to units purchased under the Manager’s systematic plans (such as the Pre-Authorized Chequing Plan and the Systematic Withdrawal Plan). Short-term trading fees are paid to the Fund and are in addition to any other redemption or switch fees that may be payable by you.

This fee is designed to protect Unitholders from other investors moving quickly in and out of the Fund. Frequent trading can hurt the Fund’s performance by forcing the Portfolio Advisor (defined below) to keep more cash in the Fund than would otherwise be needed or to sell investments at an inappropriate time. It may also increase the Fund’s transaction costs.

Short-term trading fees are in addition to any applicable sales charges and switch fees that may apply. In addition to any applicable short-term trading fee, the Manager may, in its sole discretion, decline future purchase or switch orders if we determine that a particular investor’s trading activities are detrimental to the Fund or otherwise disruptive to efficient portfolio management. Such transactions could be rejected by the Manager because of the timing of the transactions or amount of the order or because of a history of excessive trading.

OPTIONAL SERVICES

Pre-Authorized Chequing Plan

The Pre-Authorized Chequing Plan allows you to make periodic investments in series A and series F units of the Fund. The Pre-Authorized Chequing Plan allows you to:

- make regular investments of as little as $25 each;
- have the payments drawn directly from your bank account;
- change the amount you invest at any time; and
- change the frequency of your investments, or cancel the arrangements, at any time.

In the event a cheque is dishonoured under the Pre-Authorized Chequing Plan for any reason, including insufficient funds, there may be a $55 charge. This program is offered free of charge, other than applicable sales charges. The Manager may cancel or change this service at any time.

Systematic Withdrawal Plan

Investors may redeem series A and series F units of the Fund through the Systematic Withdrawal Program which permits the receipt of fixed dollar payments through systematic periodic redemption of series A and series F units of the Fund. You must have a minimum of $5,000 of series A and series F units in your account in order to open a Systematic Withdrawal Plan. Units may be redeemed automatically on a weekly, bi-weekly, semi-monthly, monthly, bi-monthly, quarterly, semi-annual or annual basis to make payments to you of at least $25. Enough units will be automatically redeemed to make the payments to you. The minimum individual redemption is $25 for both series A units and series F units.

A redemption fee may apply on each withdrawal if the series A units were purchased under the Deferred Sales Charge Option or Low Load Sales Charge Option and such series A units are not redeemed under the free redemption privilege discussed above under “Free Redemption Privilege”.

The program is offered free of charge, other than any applicable redemption charges. You may cancel the plan at any time by giving us written notice.

If your withdrawals pursuant to the systematic withdrawal program exceed the income distributions and net capital appreciation of your units, your withdrawals will diminish and, eventually, may exhaust your original capital investment. The Manager may cancel or change this service at any time.

Registered Plans

Investors may wish to open one of the following registered plan products through GGAI:

- Registered Retirement Savings Plan (“RRSP”);
- Registered Retirement Income Fund (“RRIF”);
- Registered Educational Savings Plan (“RESP”);
- Registered Disability Savings Plans (“RDSP”); or
- Tax Free Savings Account (“TFSA”).

The terms and conditions of these registered plans are contained within the application form and in the declaration of trust that appears on the reverse side of the application form. GGAI encourages you to consult your tax adviser about the tax implications of registered plans.

FEES AND EXPENSES

The consent of Unitholders will be obtained if, in connection with the holding of units of the Fund: (i) the basis of the calculation of a fee or expense that is charged to the Fund or series, or directly to Unitholders, by the Fund or the Manager is changed in a way that could result in an increase in charges to the Fund or series or to Unitholders; or (ii) a fee or expense to be charged to the Fund or series, or directly to Unitholders by the Fund or the Manager that could result in an increase in charges to the Fund or series or to its security holders, is introduced. In either case, Unitholder consent will not be required if the change to a fee or new fee or expense is a result of a change made by a third party at arm’s length to the Fund. In this case, you will be sent a written notice at least 60 days before the effective date of the change.

This table lists the fees and expenses that you may have to pay if you invest in the Fund. You may have to pay some of these fees and expenses directly. The Fund may have to pay some of these fees and expenses, which will therefore reduce the value of your investment in the Fund.

Fees and Expenses Payable by the Fund

Management Fees	The Manager is responsible for the day-to-day management of the Fund’s business and affairs. The Manager provides, or causes to be provided, the following services to the Fund: (i) all investment advisory services required by the Fund, including investment analysis and recommendations, evaluating and making decisions with respect to the investment portfolios of the Fund and making brokerage arrangements for portfolio transactions on behalf of the Fund; (ii) appointing one or more persons to distribute shares of each Fund and compensating such person or persons; (iii) providing marketing advice and assistance to registered dealers in connection with the distribution and sale of shares of the Fund; (iv) providing office accommodation and facilities for the Fund; (v) communicating with investors; (vi) arranging for the provision of legal services, internal accounting and year-end auditing services; (viii) preparing and filing all disclosure documents, income tax returns and financial and accounting information in respect of each Fund; (ix) maintaining the account records and accounting and financial records for the Fund and providing bookkeeping and other accounting services required by the Fund; (x) monitoring and assuming responsibility for the Fund’s compliance with applicable laws; (xi) computing the NAV and Series NAV per unit of the Fund; (xii) administering and managing all distributions to shareholders; (xiii) arranging for the custody and safekeeping of the assets of the Fund; (xiv) executing and delivering proxies and voting securities held by the Fund; (xv) negotiating agreements with third party service providers and co-ordinating and supervising the services of any person engaged to provide services to or on behalf of the Fund; and (xvi) all other services necessary or desirable to conduct and operate the business of the Fund. The management fee is based on the weighted NAV of a series of the Fund during each month, calculated daily and payable monthly. Series F units have a lower management fee due to cost savings resulting from the Manager not paying any distribution or servicing fees to dealers in respect of purchases of series F units. Instead, series F Unitholders pay a fee directly to dealers under “wrap account” programs. Management fees are subject to all applicable taxes, including harmonized sales tax (“HST”). The Fund pays the Manager an annual management fee (accrued daily and paid monthly) for day-to-day management and administration services. These management fees are unique to each series of units and are expressed as an annual percentage of the Fund’s average daily NAV attributable to the applicable series of units:

This is achieved by reducing the management fee charged by the Manager to the Fund based on the NAV of the units held by such investor and distributing the amount of the reduction and reinvesting such amounts in additional units of the same series of the Fund to the investor. In the case of the Fund, a fee equivalent to the investment portfolio management fees arising at the underlying fund level will be charged at the underlying fund level. In addition, if the Fund invests in an underlying fund, it will not pay duplicative sales fees or redemption fees with respect to the purchase or redemption by it of securities of that underlying fund.		Series A	Series F	Global Iman Fund	2.50%	1.50%

The Fund pays a proportionate amount of these fees which for the year ended December 31, 2015, amounted to $2,700. The IRC must hold at least one meeting annually at which the manager, any

IMPACT OF SALES CHARGES

The following table shows the amount of fees that you would have to pay under the different purchase options available to you if you made an investment of $1,000 in the Fund, if you held that investment for one, three, five or ten years and redeemed immediately before the end of that period.

DEALER COMPENSATION

Series A

When you purchase series A units, your dealer receives two primary types of compensation — sales commissions and trailing commissions. Initially, your dealer may be paid a sales commission. The amount of this commission and who pays that commission depends upon the purchase option selected by you (see “Sales Charges” above). Thereafter, a trailing commission is accrued daily and paid monthly or quarterly by the Manager and is based upon the percentage of the NAV of all series A units of the Fund held in your account with your dealer. The amount of the trailing commission also depends upon the purchase option selected by you (see “Trailing Commissions” below).

Sales Commissions

Dealers receive sales commissions where purchases of series A units of the Fund are made by investors through such dealers. These sales commissions vary according to the purchase option under which the purchase is made and are as follows:

- (a) Initial Sales Charge Option – Investors pay to their dealers a negotiable sales commission of up to 5.0% ($50 for each $1,000 investment) of the aggregate NAV of series A units of the Fund purchased under the Initial Sales Charge Option.
- (b) Deferred Sales Charge Option – the Manager will pay to each dealer a sales commission of 5.0% ($50 for each $1,000 investment) of the aggregate NAV of series A units of the Fund purchased under the Deferred Sales Charge Option by that dealer’s clients; and

- (c) Low Load Sales Charge Option – the Manager will pay to each dealer a sales commission of 2.0% ($20 for each $1,000 investment) of the aggregate NAV of series A units of the Fund purchased under the Low Load Sales Charge Option by that dealer’s clients.

Trailing Commissions

The Manager pays your dealer (including your discount broker) a portion of its management fee to assist your dealer in providing you with continuing advice and service. For purchases of series A units, the Manager will pay trailing commissions to dealers at the annual rates indicated below based upon the aggregate value of series A units of the Fund held in that dealer’s client account:

Purchase Option	Annual Rate	Period Series A Units Held in Dealer Account
Initial Sales Charge Option	1.00% each year ($10.00 for each $1,000 investment)	each year
Deferred Sales Charge Option	0.50% ($5.00 for each $1,000 investment)	for years 1 to 7
	1.00% ($10.00 for each $1,000 investment)	thereafter
Low Load Sales Charge Option	0.75% ($7.50 for each $1,000 investment)	for years 1 to 3
	1.00% ($10.00 for each $1,000 investment)	thereafter

The trailing commission is paid by the Manager to your dealer either monthly or quarterly during each calendar year and will be calculated based on a daily average asset calculation based on the value of the units the investor holds. This fee is determined by the Manager and may be changed at any time. It is expected that dealers will pay a portion of the trailing commission to sales representatives as compensation for providing ongoing investment advice and service to the clients.

Series F

Sales Commission

No sales commissions are paid on series F units issued or on the automatic reinvestment of distributions by a Fund

Trailing Commissions

There are no trailing commissions paid with respect to series F units.

Other Kinds of Dealer Compensation

We may assist dealers with certain of their direct costs associated with marketing the Fund and providing educational investor conferences and seminars about the Fund. We may also pay dealers a portion of the costs of educational conferences, seminars or courses that provide information about financial planning, investing in securities, mutual fund industry matters or mutual funds generally. We may provide dealers with marketing materials about the Fund and other investment literature. We may provide dealers with non-monetary benefits of a promotional nature and of minimal value and we may engage in business promotion activities that result in dealers receiving non-monetary benefits. We review the assistance we will provide under these programs on a case-by-case basis. Subject to compliance with securities regulatory authorities and mutual fund sales practice rules, we may change the terms and conditions of these programs, or may stop them, at any time.

The Manager is a part of the Global group of companies. Other members who are part of the Global group of companies and share a common ownership include: (i) Global Maxfin Capital Inc. (an investment dealer); Global Maxfin Investments Inc. (a mutual fund dealer); and Global RESP Corporation (a scholarship plan dealer). Each entity is 100% owned by Sam Bouji.

DEALER COMPENSATION FROM MANAGEMENT FEES

Approximately 47% of the total management fees received by the Manager from the Fund were paid to dealers who distributed units of the Fund for the financial year ended December 31, 2015.

INCOME TAX CONSIDERATIONS FOR INVESTORS

This is a general summary for investors of the Canadian federal income tax considerations under the Income Tax Act (Canada) (“Tax Act”). It assumes that you are a Canadian resident individual (other than a trust), who deals at arm’s length with the Fund and holds units of the Fund as capital property. More detailed tax information is contained in the Annual Information Form of the Fund. This summary is only a general discussion and does not cover all income tax considerations. Investors should consult their own tax advisors with respect to their individual circumstances.

When you earn income

If you hold units of the Fund, you earn income on your investment:

- when the Fund pays a distribution out of income or capital gains, and
- when you redeem your units of the Fund and realize a capital gain.

How do you calculate adjusted cost base?

In general, the aggregate adjusted cost base of your units of a particular series of the Fund equals:

- your initial investment in the series (including any sales charges paid);
- plus the cost of any additional investments in the series (including any sales charges paid);
- plus the adjusted cost base of any units of other series of the Fund that were switched into units of the particular series of the Fund;
- plus reinvested distributions;
- minus the capital returned in any distributions;
- minus the adjusted cost base of any units previously redeemed;

- minus the adjusted cost base of any units of the particular series of the Fund that were switched into units of other series of the Fund.

The adjusted cost base to you of a unit will generally be determined by reference to the average adjusted cost base of all units of that series of the Fund held by you at the time of the disposition.

For Units Held in a Registered Plan

Provided the Fund qualifies as a mutual fund trust for purposes of the Tax Act, its units will be a qualified investment under the Tax Act for trusts governed by RRSPs, RRIFs, deferred profit sharing plans, RESPs, RDSPs and TFSAs (collectively “Registered Plans”). If units of the Fund are held in a Registered Plan, distributions from the Fund and capital gains from a disposition of the units are generally not subject to tax under the Tax Act until withdrawals are made from the plan. You should consult with your own tax advisor as to whether units would be a prohibited investment under the Tax Act if held in your RRSP, RRIF or TFSA, in your particular circumstances.

For Units Not Held in a Registered Plan

If you hold units of the Fund outside of a Registered Plan, you will be required to include in computing your income for tax purposes the amount (computed in Canadian dollars) of the net income and the taxable portion of the net capital gains paid or payable to you by the Fund in the year (including by way of management fee distributions), whether you receive these distributions in cash or they are reinvested in additional units. Provided the appropriate designations are made by the Fund, distributions of net taxable capital gains, foreign source income and taxable dividends received on shares of taxable Canadian corporations, if any, of the Fund that are paid or payable to the Unitholders (including such amounts reinvested in additional units) will effectively retain their character and be treated as taxable capital gains, foreign source income and taxable dividends of the Unitholders. Foreign source income received by the Fund will generally be net of any taxes withheld in the foreign jurisdiction. You may be eligible for foreign tax credits in respect of foreign taxes paid by the Fund. To the extent that the distributions to you by the Fund in any year exceed your share of the net income and net capital gains of the Fund allocated to you for that year, those distributions (except to the extent that they are proceeds of disposition) will be a return of capital and will not be taxable to you but will reduce the adjusted cost base of your units of the Fund. If the adjusted cost base of your units is reduced to less than zero, you will be deemed to realize a capital gain equal to the negative amount as the adjusted cost base of your units will be reset at nil. We will provide information slips containing detailed information about the distributions paid to you.

Any losses of the Fund for purposes of the Tax Act cannot be allocated to, and cannot be treated as a loss of, a Unitholder.

You will be taxed on distributions of income and capital gains from the Fund, even if the income and capital gains accrued to the Fund or were realized by the Fund before you acquired the units and were reflected in the purchase price of the units. In many cases, the most significant distributions of income and capital gains of the Fund occur in December. However, distributions can be made at any time in the calendar year at the discretion of the Manager and management fee distributions are calculated and accrued daily.

The Fund’s portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Fund’s portfolio manager manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the year. The higher the Fund’s portfolio turnover rate in the year, the greater the Fund’s trading costs, and the greater the chance that you will receive a distribution from the Fund that must be included in your income for tax purposes for that year.

If you hold units outside of a Registered Plan, we will issue a tax statement to you each year containing information about the distributions paid to you. You should keep detailed records of the purchase costs, sales charges and distributions related to your units as this is the only way to accurately calculate the adjusted cost base of those units. Determination of adjusted cost base can involve complex issues and we recommend that you obtain legal and/or tax advice to assist you with those calculations.

Redeeming units

If you dispose of a unit, a capital gain (or a capital loss) will be realized to the extent that the proceeds of disposition, less any reasonable costs of disposition, are greater (or less) than the adjusted cost base of the unit. One-half of a capital gain (or a capital loss) is generally included in determining your taxable capital gain (or allowable capital loss). Your adjusted cost base and proceeds must be calculated in Canadian dollars. Under the alternative minimum tax provisions of the Tax Act, capital gains realized by an individual may give rise to a liability for minimum tax.

A switch of units of a series of the Fund into units of a different series of the same Fund will not, in itself, result in a disposition of the units being switched.

We will provide you with details of the proceeds from the redemption. However, in order to calculate your gain or loss, you need to know the adjusted cost base of your units before disposition.

WHAT ARE YOUR LEGAL RIGHTS?

Securities legislation in some provinces gives you the right to withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days of receiving the Simplified Prospectus or Fund Facts, or to cancel your purchase within 48 hours of receiving confirmation of your order.

Securities legislation in some provinces and territories also allows you to cancel an agreement to buy mutual fund units and get your money back, or to make a claim for damages, if the Simplified Prospectus, Annual Information Form, Fund Facts or financial statements misrepresent any facts about the mutual fund. These rights must usually be exercised within certain time limits. For more information, refer to the securities legislation of your province or territory or consult your lawyer.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

Legal and Administrative Proceedings

The OSC completed a compliance review of the Manager and certain entities related to the Manager (collectively, the “Global Entities”) and noted concerns that were referred to the Enforcement Branch of the OSC. In July 2012, terms and conditions were placed on the Manager’s registration by temporary order which required the Manager to retain an independent consultant (the “Consultant”) to prepare and assist the Manager in developing a plan to strengthen the Manager’s compliance systems and for the Consultant to provide progress reports to the OSC. The terms of the temporary order were extended and/or amended from time to time until the temporary order was revoked in April 2014. .

On April 14, 2014, the Manager and Sam Bouji, among other parties, entered into a settlement agreement with the OSC whereby the Manager and Mr. Bouji admitted that (i) the Manager and Mr. Bouji made investment decisions on behalf of the Global Educational Trust Plan (the “Plan”) without being registered to do so; (ii) the Manager failed to refer conflicts of interest in connection with the Plan to the Plan's IRC; (iii) Bouji and the Manager failed to provide full, true and plain disclosure of all material facts in the Plan's 2009 and 2011 Prospectus; (iv) the Manager failed to meet the standard required of an investment fund manager; (v) the Manager's compliance systems did not meet reasonable compliance practices; (vi) Mr. Bouji breached his obligations as the Ultimate Designated Person ("UDP") of the Manager; and (vii) Mr. Bouji, as the officer and director of the Manager did authorize, permit and/or acquiesce in the breaches of Ontario securities law by the Manager.

With respect to the Manager, the settlement agreement permanently suspends Mr. Bouji as the ultimate designated person ("UDP") of the Manager and the Plan. The Manager is required to create and maintain an independent board of directors to be approved by the OSC and to appoint a new independent CEO. Until the new UDP is put into place, the Chief Compliance Officer ("CCO") of the Manager will provide the board with a written report prepared for the UDP on a monthly basis and will report both to the board and the UDP.

The independent board of directors has been created effective October 2014. The independent UDP has been appointed effective January 16, 2015. In accordance with the settlement agreement, effective June 2014, Mr. Bouji resigned as director of the Manager and effective January 16, 2015, as Chief Executive Officer.

Pursuant to the settlement agreement, Mr. Bouji is prohibited from becoming or acting as a director or officer of any reporting issuer, registrant or investment fund manager for nine years and is permanently prohibited from becoming or acting as an UDP or CCO of any registrant or investment fund manager. Mr. Bouji is required to disgorge to the OSC the amount obtained as a result of the non-compliance with Ontario securities law. Mr. Bouji and the Manager are required to pay, on a joint and several basis, an administrative penalty and the costs of the OSC's investigation. In accordance with the settlement agreement, the Consultant is required to deliver a report assessing whether the Manager's revised policies and procedures and internal controls are being following by the Manager, are working appropriately and are being adequately administered and enforced by the Manager, which report is to include a description of the testing done by the independent consultant to support its conclusions. The Manager and the Consultant are continuing to work with OSC Staff to finalize this report.

WHAT DOES THE FUND INVEST IN?

Investment Objectives

The fundamental investment objective of the Fund is to provide investors with long-term growth by investing primarily in a diversified portfolio of global investments that are in accordance with Islamic investment principles.

The Fund will invest its assets primarily in equity securities of companies from around the world. The Fund may utilize other types of securities, which may include, but are not limited to, variable rate securities, options, futures and other types of derivatives deemed to be in compliance with Islamic investment principles. In the case of derivatives, they will be used to ensure that a proper diversification of holdings is obtained and maintained by the Fund.

The fundamental investment objective of the Fund may only be changed with the approval of a majority of Unitholders at a meeting called for that purpose.

Islamic investment principles generally preclude investments in certain kinds of businesses or sectors in prohibited/haram areas, such as alcohol, tobacco, pork (a non-halal animal)-related products, financial services, weapons and defence, entertainment, and gambling. If an issuer's primary business activity results in the issuer being classified into any one of the following industry classifications, it will not be deemed to be compliant with Shari'ah (i.e. it will not be a "Shari'ah Compliant Company"): Defence, Distillers & Vinters, Food Products, Recreational Products, Tobacco, Food Retailers & Wholesalers, Broadcasting & Entertainment, Media Agencies, Gambling, Hotels, Recreational Services, Restaurants & Bars, Banks, Full Line Insurance, Insurance Brokers, Property & Casualty Insurance, Reinsurance, Life Insurance, Real Estate Holding & Development, Consumer Finance, Specialty Finance, Investment Services, and Mortgage Finance. The Fund will not invest in such issuers.

Moreover, if an issuer's primary business activity results in the issuer being classified into another industry classification, but the issuer has a material interest in, or revenues from, prohibited business activities, it will not be deemed to be a Shari'ah Compliant Company, and so the Fund will not invest in such issuers.

Islamic investment principles also preclude investments in issuers with unacceptable levels of debt or interest income based on certain financial ratios. If an issuer has unacceptable levels of debt or interest income, it will not be deemed to be a Shari'ah Compliant Company, and so the Fund will not invest in such issuers.

Investment Strategies

To achieve its fundamental investment objective, under normal circumstances, the Fund will invest, via the Portfolio Advisor:

- directly in equity securities of public companies listed on the Dow Jones Islamic Market Index ("DJIMI");
- in instruments that mirror the performance of the DJIMI or instruments that mirror the performance of a selection of public companies listed on the DJIMI; and
- other investments that have been deemed Shari'ah compliant by an applicable Shari'ah advisory committee.

The Fund's Portfolio Advisor will be actively managing all securities in the portfolio.

At this time, the Fund does not contemplate holding units of other mutual funds. The Fund may in the future invest in units of other mutual funds. Any such investments will be done within the parameters of existing regulations.

From among the Shari'ah compliant companies listed on the DJIMI, the Portfolio Advisor, will select securities of global issuers in various industry sectors that are considered to: (a) represent good value in relation to the market price of the issuer's securities; (b) have experienced and capable senior management; (c) offer potential for future growth; and (d) are otherwise in compliance with Canadian securities laws regulating mutual fund investments.

Any uninvested cash of the Fund will be held in non-interest bearing investments or invested in a manner following Islamic investment principles.

Under normal circumstances, the Fund intends to fully invest its assets in securities of Shari'ah Compliant Companies; however, in response to severe or unusual adverse market, economic, political or other conditions, the Fund may make temporary investments that may prevent the Fund from fully achieving its fundamental investment objective. Since the Fund cannot invest in interest-paying instruments which are frequently used by mutual funds for this purpose, it is currently anticipated that temporary investments will be held in the form of general cash. If the Fund's investments in cash or similar instruments increase, the Fund may not fully achieve its fundamental investment objective.

Dow Jones Shari'ah Supervisory Board & Compliance

The Fund and Portfolio Advisor will ensure that all investments made are compliant with Shari'ah law. The majority of investments in the Fund will be drawn from the DJIMI. This index is overseen by the Dow Jones Shari'ah Supervisory Board. The Dow Jones Shari'ah Supervisory Board was established to counsel Dow Jones Indexes on matters relating to the Shari'ah compliance of the indexes' eligible components. All other investments will have been approved by a similar counsel.

Portfolio Purification

To remain Shari'ah compliant, the Fund may be required to purify its portfolio of gains that are considered "impure" by Shari'ah standards. Whatever their source, any impure gains received by the Fund will be segregated from the assets of the Fund's portfolio and donated to Canadian children's "charitable organizations" as such term is defined in the Tax Act on an annual basis.

We anticipate that any such charitable donation will be less than 1% of the annual gains made by the Fund. The Dow Jones Shari'ah Supervisory Board makes declarations regarding the "purification" of the DJIMI. They will declare which amounts of gains derived in the index are considered "impure" and therefore would need to be donated to charity. From these declarations, it is then the responsibility of both the Portfolio Advisor and Fund Manager to determine which of these amounts are applicable to the Fund. Since the Fund will very rarely, if ever, exactly mirror the index, the amounts considered "impure" in the Fund will always be different than those declared by the Dow Jones Shari'ah Advisory Board.

Any such charitable donations will be shown on the Fund's financial statements as a deduction from gains.

Investment Risk Methodology

The following is meant as a general guide only. For advice about your own circumstances, you should consult your financial advisor.

The Manager of the Fund is required to disclose the investment risk classification methodology used in selecting investments for the Fund. The risk level for the Fund is determined using both quantitative and qualitative considerations, such as reviewing the fund type, the investment objectives and standard deviation of the fund. The usage of standard deviation as a quantitative measure to assess the volatility and risk of an investment is common. In general, funds with higher standard deviations are generally considered more risky.

The 5 investment risk categories based on common industry practice are as follows:

- Low (Conservative) – for funds with level of risk that is typically associated with investments in money market funds and Canadian fixed income funds; suited for investors not willing to tolerate noticeable downside fluctuations.
- Low to Medium (Moderately Conservative) – for funds with a level of risk that is typically associated with investments in balanced funds and global and/or corporate fixed income funds; suited for investors still adverse to large short term downside fluctuations but wants a little more return and is willing to tolerate a little more risk than the conservative investor.
- Medium (Moderate) – for funds with a level of risk that is typically associated with investments in equity portfolios that are diversified among a number of larger capitalization Canadian and/or international equity securities; suited for investors expecting returns in line with a basket of similarly weighted market indices and know they are taking some risks to get them.
- Medium to High (Moderately Aggressive) – for funds with a level of risk that is typically associated with investments in equity funds that may concentrate their investments in specific regions or in specific sectors of the economy; suited for investors that want to outperform a basket of similarly weighted market indices and does not mind being down a little more than the markets when they are down.
- High (Aggressive) – for funds with a level of risk that is typically associated with investment in equity portfolios that may concentrate their investments in specific regions or in specific sectors of the economy where there is a substantial risk of loss; suited for investors that want to substantially outperform the market and know they are exposed to much more risk than the markets.

Applying the above criteria the Manager has determined that the Fund is medium risk.

The Manager may take into account other factors, including volatility analysis, attribution analysis and the comparison of results to the Fund’s benchmark and its peers, in making a final determination of the Fund’s risk rating.

The investment risk methodology is reviewed at least annually.

The methodology the Manager uses to identify the investment risk level of the Fund is available on request at no cost by calling 1-866-680-4734 or by writing to 100 Mural Street, Suite 201, Richmond Hill, Ontario, L4B 1J3.
